Spooky season is upon us

Halloween festivities listed for local area

BY BOB DEMAREE

The Halloween season has arrived with activities planned for this weekend through Monday.

Most local communities have scheduled Trick-or-Treat for Halloween day on Monday, Oct. 31 — including Madison, Hanover and Patriot in Indiana and Bedford, Carrollton and Milton in Kentucky — all from 6-8 p.m. The only exception is Vevay, which will have Trick-or-Treat Saturday, Oct. 29 from 6-9 p.m.

The city of Madison's Halloween Festival will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday at Bicentennial Park.

There will be a petting zoo with animals from Honey Hills Farm. Live entertainment for the family will include juggling and stilt walkers who will roam the park. Additionally, there will be balloon artists, airbrush tattoos, face painting, bouncy houses and game booths.

The city's festival on Saturday will also hold costume contest for children in five different categories. Entrants will be judged on creativity, effort, presentation and originality. Participants must be checked in and lined up by 11:15 a.m. with ages 0-3 followed by ages 4-6 at 11:45 a.m., ages 7-9 at 12:15 p.m., ages 10-13 at 12:45 p.m. and a K9 contest at 1:15 p.m.

The City of Madison's Halloween Festival will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday at Bicentennial Park and Trick-or-Treat will be from 6-8 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 31.

SW schools asked to help alleviate traffic congestion

BY BOB DEMAREE

With traffic issues a consistent problem during times of arrival and departure from Southwestern Jefferson County Schools, a suggestion for a circle driveway on the south side of the elementary school was made by Hanover Town Council President Kenny Garrett at Monday's meeting of the Southwestern School Board.

Garrett said the recommendation was his idea to alleviate the traffic congestion, which he said is essential to be addressed in order for future growth to come to Hanover. "We've got to get our streets cleaned up. I can't convince anyone that it's a good thing (to bring investment to Hanover) if we've got cars piled up on our streets."

Garrett's suggestion was to erect a fence on the south side of the Southwestern Elementary playground and then create a circle drive to take cars that back up on Main Cross Street to the south side of the school. Garrett noted that a new 91-acre subdivision is under consideration in the vicinity of Meadow Lane but before than can happen there must be efforts to alleviate some of the traffic congestion. Beyond that, Garrett noted there are safety factors involved because with traffic backed up, access for emergency vehicles like ambulances, fire and police is challenged during busy traffic times.

Dry conditions, fires keep firefighters busy

Rainfall on Tuesday not enough to lift burn ban

BY BOB DEMAREE

The area got its first rainfall in more than a month Tuesday night but that wasn't enough to lift Jefferson County's burn ban as restrictions remain in place due to extremely dry conditions still creating fire dangers.

"We're not going to lift it yet," said Jefferson County Emergency Management Director Troy Morgan. "We just got fourtenths of an inch of rain Tuesday evening and that's not near enough to make up for a drought like we've had."

Local firefighters know well the dangers of the current dry conditions. They have been fighting fires in a Jefferson County woods most of this week in the 9000 block of West State Road 356 close to the Scott County line. The blaze was discovered Monday and firefighters were still putting out hot spots and flareups Wednesday, even after Tuesday's rain.

Hanover Fire Chief Ron Kroger said the fire has impacted a total of 16 to 18 acres of woods. He said Lexington Volunteer Fire Department was called out around 9:30 a.m. Monday and witnessed a haze but wasn't able to find the fire only to be called once when fire became more evident. Kent Fire Chief Brett Roberts said the Lexington fire department was called back still again, an hour before Kent Volunteer Fire Department responded at 2 p.m. Later, it was determined the fire was actually under the jurisdiction of the Hanover Township Volunteer Fire Department which also arrived on the scene to help fight the fire.

Kroger noted fire company territory lines are in close proximity in that area, and the wooded area was south of the State Road 356 in Saluda Township.

Roberts said it has been a challenge dealing with wooded area. The firefighters battled in the area from Monday afternoon to 9 p.m. when it became too unsafe to see above them due to the darkness. Fire lines had been established but the fire jumped over that, and firefighters were back on the scene at 7 a.m. Tuesday and continued to fight the blaze throughout the day.

HDBR tables COA for Lanthier storage containers

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison's Historic Board of Review on Monday tabled an application by Tami Hagemier and Lanthier Winery & Distillery for a Certificate of Appropriateness to install several shipping containers on site as storage for the wine and spirits produced and sold by that business.

Hagemier, representing the business, said the containers would be located at the northeast and west corners of a site the Lanthier purchased in 2021 at 701 West First Street for the purpose of building a warehouse adjacent to the winery and distillery to keep up with the company's growing business.

The property is zoned heavy manufacturing dating back to its previous use as a coal yard when Madison's riverfront included coal and scrap businesses and shipping facilities utilizing the Ohio River and Madison Railroad. More recently, the area has consistently been converted to greenspace and residential housing due to its location in the flood plain and proximity to city parks, historic sites and a riverwalk that is popular with local residents and tourists.

ISP makes arrest in death of unidentified child

ISP seeking help in locating boys' mother

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Detectives with the Indiana State Police in Sellersburg have arrested a suspect in connection with the death of the unidentified boy found inside a suitcase in rural Washington County, Indiana, in April of this year.

The arrest, the identity of the boy who was found deceased and details of the boys mother, who is also a suspect in the case, were announced at a press conference on Wednesday.

"It's a bittersweet day — bitter because no matter what progress is made we're still dealing with the tragic death of a precious young child and unfortunately we can't change that — but the wheels of justice do turn and we do make progress and we do have information today," said ISP Sgt. Carey Huls.

When ISP detectives originally began the case just , there was little information available to assist in the investigation. A local mushroom hunter located the child in a distinctive Las Vegas-themed hard-shell suitcase approximately 80 feet off Holder Road, a dead-end lane situated in an isolated area of southeast Washington County in southern Indiana.

Dejuane Ludie Anderson

No family members, witnesses, or acquaintances came forward to identify the boy or provide any information. Leads from the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children also proved unsuccessful, as well as thousands of tips called in by the general public. Information gathered from the autopsy shed little light on the investigation and listed the cause of death as "electrolyte imbalance," likely caused by a "viral gastroenteritis."

From the onset of the investigation, ISP crime scene technicians, detectives, and ISP Laboratory personnel utilized any physical evidence collected in hopes of determining and locating a suspect in the crime. No crime scene investigation technologies were spared in this investigation, including recent advanced technologies only available through federal and outside agencies.

Detectives and ISP criminal intelligence analysts also utilized a variety of electronic, digital communication, and social media forensic techniques in the course of their investigation.

As a result of the investigation and physical evidence gathered at the scene, detectives identified two suspects in the case and the deceased child, 5-year-old Cairo Ammar Jordan from Atlanta.

Authorities with the Georgia Bureau of Investigations assisted in locating and contacting Cairo's biological father after investigators were able to confirm the child was Cairo. He would have turned six on Monday, Oct. 24, 2022.

On Oct. 14, 2022, the Washington County Circuit Court issued felony arrest warrants for Dawn Elaine Coleman, 40, of Shreveport, Louisiana, and Dejaune Ludie Anderson, 37, of Atlanta, Georgia, for charges of Neglect of a Dependent Resulting in Death, a Level 1 Felony, and Obstruction of Justice, a Level 6 Felony. Additionally, investigators identified Dejaune Anderson as the biological mother of the deceased child.

As a result of information gathered during their investigation, ISP Detectives Matt Busic and Chris Tucker traveled to San Francisco and on Oct. 19, located and arrested Dawn Coleman with the assistance of the San Francisco Police Department. Continuing with information collected as part of the investigation, both detectives traveled to the Los Angeles metro area but were unsuccessful in locating Dejaune Anderson.

Based on information gathered during Busick's continuing investigation, on Tuesday, Oct. 25, 2022, the Washington County Circuit Court issued an arrest warrant for Dejaune Ludie Anderson for the charge of Murder.

Anderson is currently at large, and her location is unknown. Indiana State Police are requesting the public's assistance in locating Anderson. She is described as a black female, 5-foot-5, approximately 135 pounds. She had short, dark brown hair in her last known photo, but she is known to often wear wigs or hair extensions.

Her last known location was the Echo Park area of Los Angeles; however, she is known to travel and has recently been to San Francisco, San Diego, Las Vegas, and Houston. Anyone who observes or has current location information on Dejaune Anderson's is asked to contact the local police department with jurisdiction at that location.

"This investigation has had a lot of twists and turns and a lot of information," said Huls, noting that thousands of tips, leads and investigative methods were employed over the last six months. The Washington County commnity grieved the boy's death at public vigils to raise awareness to the case and when no identification still could be mad, the community "came together for the funeral when he was laid to rest."

"This whole case is all about justice for Cairo — that's all it's ever been about," Huls added. "Justice means bringing everybody responsible for his death before trial."

SR 56 reopened, SR 156 reduced to 1 lane

BY THE COURIER STAFF

State Road 56 between Madison and Veva, closed since June, has now been reopened after completion of project to replace a boxed culvert.

On Tuesday, the Indiana Department of Transportation announced the completion of a box culvert replacement project near Spring Branch Road in Switzerland County. Before that, there was a closure on State Road 56 for a bridge replacement project over Lost Fork Creek.

INDOT noted in its announcement on Tuesday that some signs may remain in place over the next few days until all can be removed.

Work is now moving to the State Road 156 bridge over Log Lick Creek in Switzerland County that is located west of Markland Dam. The bridge there will be reduced to one lane with temporary traffic signals through next fall for a superstructure replacement project.

The projects are all part of a $5.5 million rehabilitation contract with Force Construction Company.

All work is weather-dependent and schedules are subject to change.

FIRES

Hanover was back at the woods Wednesday morning because of a tree that was on fire. Kroger noted that even after fires are put out there can be fire smoldering inside the trees that later rekindles into open flames. With so many trees in the woods, it's difficult for the fire department to identify which trees are smoldering or to address them all. "We cut a lot down but we can't get them all," said Kroger.

In addition to the woods, Kroger said there was a junkyard in the woods with a variety of items including tires, automotive lubricants and more.

He thinks the property has an absentee landowner who died and possibly another person has been squatting at the site and living off the land and "trashed it all up." Kroger speculated that the fire may have started from that person burning a campfire in the woods but so far they have not been able to make contact with the suspect who they think has been living on the property. "It's not the first time" the fire department has been called out to those woods, Kroger said.

Kroger noted that wildland firefighters from Big Oaks National Wildlife Refuge were called to the scene because of their experience in fighting fires in the woods, and they have been a big help. Also assisting were Johnson Township and Vienna Township fire companies from Scott County, Deputy Volunteer Fire Department from Jefferson County and New Washington and Monroe Township fire companies from Clark County.

On Monday, a fire that originated from burning garbage the night resulted in a more dangerous fire when wind blew embers onto the grass and then a large wood pile at Turkey Branch Road near the intersection of China/Manville Road.

Madison Township Fire Chief Robert Black said the burning wood pile was about 15 to 20 feet from a shed and 50 feet away from a house, which he noted could have become even more dangerous and caused more damage if it had continued to spread. The fire, reported at 2:50 p.m., took about two hours to put out by Madison Township and Ryker's Ridge fire departments.

Black noted that with the current drought conditions in Jefferson County, there is a ban on burning and "it's not something to take lightly" because in those conditions fires can be severe and create serious damage.

Morgan said late Wednesday morning that the National Weather Service is forecasting more rain in Jefferson County on Sunday but an amount only expected to be similar to Tuesday's rainfall. "It's still very dry. We're going to need a lot more rain a lot longer" in order to end the burn ban, he said, noting he's aware that the burn ban is an inconvenience but it's necessary for the "greater good ... We have had firefighters out 14 to 16 hours three days in a row this week."

Prior to this week's fires, firefighters were dealing with an even bigger blaze that began on the range at Jefferson Proving Ground at about 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 19. The fire broke out during standard training on the 50-acre Jefferson Range, located in the center of the Jefferson Proving Ground site, and now involves 500 acres mostly in the area around a Precision Guided Munitions Range located on Jefferson Range.

Helicopter rounds ignited light grasslands and leaves on Jefferson Range as well as a portion of Big Oaks National Wildlife Range (NWR) east of the range within the designated safety fan surrounding the range. Officials determined that the fires were within existing fire breaks and private land is not in jeopardy. Big Oaks NWR firefighters are currently monitoring and controlling the fires.

Wildland Firefighters from Big Oaks NWR conducted a burnout operation on Oct. 20 and will continue such tactics as needed to reinforce fire breaks. Currently the fire is 80% contained and is expected to produce smoke until rain arrives. The areas involved are periodically subject to control burns to reduce fuels and reduce the risk of severe wildfire.

Those previous controlled burns have successfully reduced the severity of the current fires but there are potentially other dangers involved

"I want to caution residents who have respiratory difficulties to stay inside and motorists to be aware of potential visibility hazards while they travel on the local roads," Refuge Manager Joe Robb stated,

Jefferson Range provides simulated real-world training missions considered critical for military personnel. The nature of the training involves ordnance that can ignite light grassland and leaves. Lt. Col. Ryan Harvey, Jefferson Range, stated that "I want to thank Big Oaks NWR firefighters and my staff for their dedication and professionalism during these operations. I understand the communities concerns, but we are confident these fires are contained."

In other first responder calls, Madison Township Fire Department was assisted by Ryker's Ridge Fire Department and Madison Rescue 6 on Saturday to rescue a 60-year-old woman on Trail 2 near Trail 8 at Clifty Falls State Park. The women was hiking when she was unable to proceed, becoming light headed following a light breakfast that morning. A stokes basket was needed to assist her from the trail, but once the rescue was complete, she was able to recover and did not seek further medical attention.

Encore Theatre to stage Christie plays

BY BOB DEMAREE

Encore Theatre of Madison's third production, billed as "A Poirot Double Bill," will feature two Agatha Christie plays — "The Wasp's Nest" and "Yellow Iris" — performed at Madison Consolidated High School's Opal Sherman Auditorium on Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Detective Hercule Poirot is a central figure in both plays, and serves as a sort of follow up to the recent production of "Murder of the Orient Express" by the MCHS theatre group, in which Poirot was also a central character.

Both "The Wasp's Nest" and "Yellow Iris" have Poirot trying to solve the mystery of a murder that he believes is about to take place. "So, he's trying to figure out what the plot is, and trying to stop it in time so it doesn't happen," said Alec Lichlyter, director of the play.

There are different casts for each play with different actors playing Poirot in each. In "The Wasp's Nest," Isaac White plays Poirot while Connor Stevely plays Poirot in "Yellow Iris." Lichlyter said in "The Wasp's Nest" it's being treated as if Poirot is younger and in "Yellow Iris" he's considered older.

"The actors are two very different actors so you can see two different styles," said Lichlyter. He said the flexibility and adaptability of Poirot is "one of the fun things about that character" in the Agatha Christie stories. "Even in her own writings she shows Poirot in different stages of his life so just to have these two plays, where we can show that, was kind of intriguing and is fun to do."

"The Wasp's Nest" is a more traditional play while "Yellow Iris" was written by Christie as a radio play. For "Yellow Iris," Lichlyter said, "we've done some things to adapt from that" by utilizing the video screen behind the stage for video clips during songs in the play. "We are imagining what would be happening with those characters during the songs so we filmed those while our actress performs the songs," he said.

Bob Demaree

Encore Theatre of Madison is presenting two Agatha Christie plays this weekend that feature detective Hercule Poirot. This garden scene from "The Wasp's Nest" includes (from left): Tamra Smith as Nina Bellamy, Isaac White at Poirot and Adam Norris as Claude Langdon.

Each play is approximately 30 minutes and there will be an intermission between the two. "It will be two very different experiences for the audience," said Lichlyter.

Proceeds from Encore Theatre plays provide a scholarship for a student graduating from the MCHS Fine Arts Academy.

Other actors in "The Wasp's Nest" are Kamra Smith as Nina Bellamy, Adam Norris as Claude Langdon and Stevely as Charles Harborough. Other actors in "Yellow Iris" are Emily Goins as Pauline Weatherby, Bekah Parsons as Lola Valdez, White as Barton Russell, Norris as Anthony Chappell, Jake Schild as Stephen Carter, Luca Alcorn as Luigi the Water, Kim Parisi as the cloakroom attendant, Holly Magrath as the ballroom singer and Smith as the torch singer.

The crew includes Pat Magrath as assistant director, Parisi handling costumes, props and sets, Justin Davis as the technical director and Holly Magrath with sets.

Tickets online at encoretheatrein.com are $15 for adults and $5 for students. Tickets at the door are $17 for adults and $7 for students. Adult tickets are $5 off for matinee shows.

Proceeds from Encore Theatre plays provide a scholarship for a student graduating from the MCHS Fine Arts Academy.

In the spring, Lichlyter said Encore Theatre is planning to perform its first musical. "That will be fun to experience. We've had a lot of questions of people wanting to be in musicals so we're really happy to offer that for the spring."

Panel recommends study for residential treatment needs

BY BOB DEMAREE

Efforts to develop a residential treatment facility in Jefferson County move a step forward last Thursday when the subcommittee working to bring that project to fruition recommended that a basic needs assessment be done by the Education Services Center of the University of Cincinnati.

Although decision by subcommittee fall under the Justice Reinvestment Advisory Council (JRAC) and County Commissioners for official approval, Keith Howard, coordinator of Healthy Communities Initiative, said the recommendation is progress and moves forward the effort tarted by Jim Courter and Commissioner Ron Lee to more effectively address Jefferson County's substance abuse problem.

The basic needs assessment will cost $15,000 and focus primarily on reviewing and analyzing existing secondary data sources that already exist while attaining limited stakeholder and subject-matter expert input and recommendations. There was also an option for a $25,000 comprehensive needs assessment with a broader reach that would include focus group discussions, additional interviews with key stakeholders and multiple presentations.

Howard made the motion for the subcommittee to pursue the basic needs assessment with the understanding that once that information is gathered that if more data is needed there will be opportunities to add more aspects to the data gathering done by the Education Services Center of the University of Cincinnati.

"It's really important to get the data to determine essentially the feasibility and the demand and supply, and the next level after that is what is it going to cost and operate the facility, and how does that get paid for," said Madison Mayor Bob Courtney. He noted that determining the cost may not necessarily be part of the feasibility study which is "where the capital planning comes into place."

Michael Hicks, community coordinator for the residential treatment subcommittee, said the group's dialogue in past meetings has indicated that the study much come before other aspect of the projects. "Once we get the needs assessment, we get an estimate of actual capital building costs, then operational planning of it." He said at that point the group can then work to find a good location for the facility.

Howard also noted the residential treatment facility will be only one part of the county's effort toward addressing issues of substance abuse in Jefferson County. He cited others such as providing substance abuse treatment in the jail, providing crisis diversion centers for assessment and treatment and ongoing recovery assistance. "There are lots of pieces to this puzzle" and the residential treatment facility is just one, "but this is a huge step."

Bill Beaudoin, attending as the spokesperson for the greater recovered and recovering community, said he will be attending officially "for those people and their families and friends to make sure we make the right choices and right moves. I've, over the years, seen lots of money thrown at this with very little results. And I hope the focus will stay indeed on that we want — a safe, vibrant community with results."

History center features Smith jewelry exhibit

A jewelry exhibit of work of Bill Smith will continue at the Jefferson County History Center, 615 West First Street, through Nov. 18.

Bill Smith

Smith, an an award winning jewelry designer who died in 1989, was born Dec. 4, 1933, to Robert and Elizabeth Smith of Hanover. He was raised on Fifth Street, attended Broadway School and graduated from Madison High School in 1951.

Smith, the first black recipient of a Coty Award for his designs, was researched for two years by JoAnne Spiller, director of education for the Jefferson County Historical Society, who by creating the exhibit hopes Smith's story can be an inspiration to future artists in Jefferson County.

In June 1968, Bill Smith was made vice-president of Richelieu, at that time the second largest jewelry firm in America, after only two months with the company as their head designer. Later that year in October, he was commissioned to exclusively create all the jewelry for the Broadway production of Coco, a stage musical about the life of Coco Chanel staring Katharine Hepburn. Smith designed jewelry for Cartier, furs for Ben Kahn and leather for Mark Cross. His jewelry was worn by Lena Horne, Loretta Young, Charlotte Ford and Ethel Scull

The exhibit can be viewed Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

It was that reason cited by members of the Madison Board of Zoning Appeals when they rejected Lanthier's application for the warehouse in July 2021. Not allowed to build on the property, the owners then came before the city's Historic Board of Review (HDBR) in November 2021 asking for permission to use the area proposed for the warehouse for parking and temporary storage.

The HDBR came into that 2021 meeting with only four voting members in attendance — three members of the seven-person board were absent — which would have required all four to vote in opposition to block the application. The board members voted 2-2 so the application passed with recommendations that Lanthier construct a retaining wall in an area subject to erosion that had been excavated as part a cleanup of the former coal yard.

On Monday, Lanthier's ownership was back before the HDBR seeking permission to locate shipping containers on site with additional site preparation, landscaping and painting of the units to be less obtrusive. According to Hagemier, the company would still prefer to build a warehouse on the site — but now not within the next 5 years — but the shipping containers will do the job in conjunction with a second site Lanthier is currently developing in the town of Hanover. The company is required to have secured storage for its alcohol products and Lanther is producing more and more every day.

She said the plan is to create a permanent, more stable place for the containers but still have the ability to move containers in and out of the area or product from one container to another.

She added that since Lanthier has approval to use the site as a parking lot, the other option would be to use semi trailers as on-site storage that can be moved in and out as needed but the higher profile of the trailers would be more obtrusive than the lower profile shipping containers — about 2 to 3 feet higher.

According to Hagemier, the plan is that by using the lower containers and proper landscaping, the area where the storage and parking is located will be less noticeable from nearby streets. She said once Lanthier's building is finished in Hanover, the area in Madison could be used more as an event area.

A few residents spoke against the application, citing that Lanthier has not lived up to terms of its other application to construct a retaining wall and landscape the area to obstruct the view of the gravel area used for parking and currently two containers. Hagemier said the owners have consulted experts and opted for a fabric barrier that functions like a retaining wall and, in the end, could be a better look than riprap and other materials used for retention.

She added that the business hopes to eventually plant low growing junipers or perennials in the area as well as red bud trees and forsythias in other areas to provide year around color and a visual barrier to the proposed area, which is located well below street level.

Mike Pittman, a member of the HDBR who opposed Lanthier's earlier application, questioned allowing a storage unit like a shipping container, containing alcohol products, in the flood plain where high water has been known to dislodge structures and send them crashing into other property and downriver.

Hagemier said she has researched the elevation and flood records and consulted experts, including the city's building inspector, and the area would be secure from all but historic flooding and even then the point of the containers is they can be transported.

"Lanthier Winery is the first business to go under water when there is flooding," Hagemier said, noting the owners are well aware of flood issues and have taken precautions in the past to deal with that. "We've got a lot of experience."

Neighboring property owner Charles Ricketts noted the city's ordinance requires a 100-foot setback for such uses and the Lanthier lot is only 90-feet wide. He also added that while the site is zoned heavy industry it adjoins more restrictive zones. He added that the ordinance the HDBR follows specifies that the "more restrictive" zone can be applied in such applications and urged the HDBR to do that in this application.

Hagemier said Lanthier had hoped to build a warehouse and now wants to use the shipping containers but if the application is rejected the business will opt for semi trailers. She said she has documentation of permission to use the site for parking and approval for the proposed use in the flood plain. She said she was willing to provide HDBR with that documentation if necessary.

In the end, the HDBR voted 4-1 to table the application for additional review in November with board member Carol Ann Rogers casting the opposing vote.

Mayor Bob Courtney attended the meeting but did not speak publicly. However, when contacted for comment later, he said the issue is part of Madison's efforts to balance history, aesthetics and residential and business investment in the community.

"Madison has many different zoning classifications and a beautiful historic district. As the community grows, it's not uncommon for different property types to encroach on one another. Keeping Madison beautiful and attracting and/or protecting investment is only possible when neighbors can work together to resolve their differences," Courtney said.

TRAFFIC

Garrett noted the traffic issues have been a problem for a long time, but "times have have changed and it could possibly get worse in the future. It's something I want you to think about and consider." He noted a new subdivision would put more children in Southwestern schools at a time when the attendance is in decline.

Garrett said he's proud to be Southwestern High School graduate and loves Hanover, "and will never leave this town but I just think there's still room for growth. I think we need to visualize that and seek what we need to do to make that growth happen. It's right there, and we just need to make some changes, and some really good things can happen."

The board did not respond to Garrett's requeston Monday but Southwestern Superintendent Jeffrey Bates answered questions about the issue after the meeting. Bates said the traffic has been an issue that the school corporation has been challenged to resolve for a long time. "It's something that we'll take another look at," he said, but they have to consider what's feasible.

Garrett also provided an update on developments at Hanover Parks, which was recently awarded a Land and Water Conservation Grant with part of the plan to replace the current tennis courts at Hanover Community Park. Garrett noted that cracks in the courts were repaired in 2014 but were back by 2018.

"Those courts have been there many, many years since I was in school when I played on them" in the 1980s, Garrett said. He noted it is time put in new courts and the cost is estimated at $187,544 with a 25-year guarantee with no cracking from Tennis Technology Inc. of Louisville.

Garrett requested the school corporation — Southwestern uses the courts for it practices and home matches — provide funding for nets, posts and fencing around the courts at a cost of $29,500 which would be needed by the spring of 2023.

Garrett said when teams come to play the Rebels "I want it to look good, I want it to look presentable. I want them to say this is a nice facility."

No decision was made by the board but school corporation treasurer Laura Boldery will check to see if funding is available.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

- Adopted a budget totaling $16,462,889 with a total tax rate of 1.6555 that will now be reviewed by the Department of Local Government Finance for approval by the end of the year. "This is advertised high. It will come down after DLGF gets done going over everything," said Boldery, noting the budget can be decreased but it can never be increased.
- Approved allowing elementary students and staff to participate in Dimes for Dreams, a fundraiser for the Jefferson County Veterans Christmas tree and a free book giveaway for youth coming to Holly Jolly Christmas Celebration in December. Narci Burress, one of the organizers of the Hanover holiday events, said that classrooms that want to participate will collect dimes from Oct. 31 through Nov. 10.

MADISON COURIER GIRLS GOLFER OF THE YEAR

Nina Campbell

Madison Consolidated High School senior Grace Bronkella is the 2022 Madison Courier Girls Golfer of the Year.

Bronkella fills big shoes in leading Cubs back to regional

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Grace Bronkella knew that she was going to have big shoes to fill replacing Keara Eder in the top spot for Madison girls golf. But when it became time to do that, she knocked the role out of the park.

Bronkella had the best season of her high school career, set a new personal best on the biggest stage and led Madison back to the regional tournament to earn this year's Madison Courier Girls Golfer of the Year honors.

It wasn't an easy year for the Madison senior, and there were just as many ups as downs, but overall, she had a fantastic season.

"Individually I did pretty well and our team overall improved tremendously," Bronkella said. "I thought that I personally improved throughout the whole season getting a PR during sectionals, which is what I also did last year, so I thought that was pretty cool. And I brought my average down a lot from last year, which helps a lot."

Replacing Eder, one of the best golfers in school history, wasn't easy and Bronkella knew that it would be a different experience playing in the No. 1 position rather than at No. 2. Throw in a young and inexperienced team behind her, and Bronkella faced a lot of pressure to lead the team.

"It is definitely a lot different playing as a number one than playing as a number two because there is so much that you have to do. I feel like I had to fill really big shoes and I feel like I everyone else had to pick it up a little bit to fill in the spots," Bronkella said. "I just worked as hard as I could and came out here about every day and tried my best."

Bronkella was the team's leader from day one and she teamed with freshman Emmi Dowell to give the Cubs a strong 1-2 punch at the top of the lineup. She shot a personal-best 86 at the sectional to finish second overall and lead the Cubs back to the regional, then capped her career with a 104 on the tough regional course.

While her senior season didn't end the way she would have liked, she was pleased with her performance and she was happy with the growth she has made since her freshman year.

"I started playing in eighth grade and I think of how I've improved each year," She said. "I've grown throughout this whole season."

Bronkella, who also played volleyball for the Cubs this year, will run track in the spring. But it is golf where her heart lies and where she hopes to play next year in college, wherever that may be.

"I'm not sure where to go but I do want to go somewhere to play golf," Bronkella said. "I have been talking to a few colleges that have been interested. But I don't really know yet what I want to study."

Regardless of where she goes, her place in Madison history has been set.

"Grace has been a tremendous asset for our program for her entire career. She was a key contributor for three sectional championships, and the high standards she sets for herself are a big reason for that," Madison coach Jake Shockley said. "Her experience this year was vital for this year's team because we wouldn't have come close to our goals without her. I'm thankful to have had Grace this year to help continue the strong tradition of Lady Cubs golf. I look for her work ethic to continue to propel her to success on and off the course as she moves on to the next phase of her life."

Hot Harper carries Phillies into 1st World Series since 2009

BY DAN GELSTON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

PHILADELPHIA — The billionaire owner of the Philadelphia Phillies pounded his fists on Bryce Harper's chest and joked the Phillies slugger was almost underpaid at $330 million over the life of his contract.

It was absurd to put a price tag on the moment for John Middleton as he pulled in Harper for a hug while the National League championship celebration swirled around them on the field. This was a moment the duo visualized when Middleton took a jet in February 2019 to Las Vegas to court Harper in meetings and dinners that would eventually yield a 13-year, $330-million deal, the biggest in baseball history for a free agent.

Bryce Harper

So when Harper and Middleton finally embraced — once the Phillies beat San Diego 4-3 on Sunday in Game 5 of the NLCS and reached their first World Series since 2009 — yeah, the feelings were a bit more personal.

"You bet it was! Of course it was," Middleton said. "(It's) $330 million later, mutual promises of being committed to winning and doing whatever it took to win."

Harper delivered in the postseason, a place seen only in fits and spurts for a franchise that has two World Series championships in 140 years. The tater forever etched as an all-timer in team history — the one that had Middleton and Phillies fans everywhere pleading for the ball to keep going — was his game-winning, two-run homer in the eighth that lifted Philly into the World Series and left even Harper momentarily bewildered.

"Oh my gosh. I just did that," Harper said in the dugout.

Sure did.

Next stop, Houston.

The Phillies open the World Series on Friday against the Astros with more than a puncher's chance against the defending American League champions strictly because of Harper. The numbers only tell part of the tale, even as the 30-year-old designated hitter is piling up stats among the best in postseason history, all while declaring Citizens Bank Park is his house. He leads in the clubhouse, and from his Phillie Phanatic cleats and headband, to his novelty T-shirts to his shoutouts for Philly sports legends, he has embraced the fans and the pressure of playing in the city like few outsiders ever have in any sport.

Burrow and Bengals hoping for more big things before bye

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Joe Burrow last week predicted the next three games on the Cincinnati Bengals' schedule — those leading up the bye week — would determine how the rest of the season will go for the defending AFC champions.

So far, so good. Better than good, actually.

The Bengals quarterback had the second-best game of his three-year career on Sunday, torching the Atlanta Falcons with 481 passing yards and three touchdowns in a 35-17 win that was never close.

The Bengals (4-3) moved over .500 for the first time this season and remained tied with Baltimore for first place in the AFC North.

The next two opponents in that Burrow triumvirate are the Cleveland Browns, losers of four straight, and the Carolina Panthers, who just snapped a three-game skid with a 21-3 win over Tom Brady and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Burrow is finally getting consistently good protection in the pocket and his receivers — arguably the best set of wideouts in the NFL — are catching everything thrown near them and blowing away defensive backs after they do.

Tyler Boyd, at 27 the elder statesman of the group, caught eight of his nine targets Sunday for a career-high 155 yards and a 60-yard touchdown two minutes into the game.

Ja'Marr Chase, the reigning Offensive Rookie of the Year, had eight catches for 130 yards and two touchdowns. Tee Higgins caught five and came up 7 yards short of getting a 100-yard game for himself.

"I wanted them bad, man. I'm not going to lie," Higgins said with a smile. "We ran some play, and I was butt-naked (open), and I'm looking at Joe like, 'Throw me the ball!' But it's OK. My guys went off today, and I'm so proud of them."

Despite missing some key players, the Cincinnati defense held the Falcons' Marcus Mariota to eight completions for 124 yards and a touchdown while containing the running game, which has been Atlanta's primary weapon.

"It was a pretty complete game," Burrow said. "Good to see. You'd like to score on every possession. I thought we could have. So we left something out there, but overall it was a complete effort."

After an 0-2 start, the Bengals have won four of five.

"Consistency is the next step," Burrow said. "Every single game we've had spots where we're really good, and it's about sustaining it over a whole game. We have to string together games like that. We've done that for two weeks and we have to keep doing it."

WHAT'S WORKING

The retooled offensive line was expected to heal everything that was ailing the Cincinnati offense, and the Bengals were criticized when the five guys didn't immediately click. They've improved significantly since. Burrow had time Sunday to drop back and survey the field, which yielded big results.

WHAT NEEDS HELP

Joe Mixon is still playing solid, hard-nosed football, but the running game has been an afterthought. Mixon gained 58 yards on 17 carries (3.4 yards per carry) against the Falcons. After rushing for 1,205 yards last season, he has yet to top 100 in a game in 2022. He did have three catches for 33 yards against Atlanta.

STOCK UP

Hakeem Adeniji was excellent in pass protection filling in when RT La'el Collins left with an injury. ... DT Jay Tufele had a solid game filling in for injured interior linemen D.J. Reader and Josh Tupou. He was credited with four stops and no missed tackles. ... Seldom-used DE Joseph Ossai had two quarterback pressures and his first NFL sack on just seven pass-rush snaps.

STOCK DOWN

The expectations for free agent right tackle Collins were huge, but he's been limited by injuries. A sore back that sidelined him in training camp has lingered. He went to the locker room with an ankle injury in the first half on Sunday but came back and played in the second half, missing 26% of offensive snaps.

KEY INJURIES

DE Trey Hendrickson suffered a neck injury.

KEY NUMBER

5 — Number of 400-yard passing games in Burrow's first three years in the league. He's the first quarterback in NFL history to do that.

NEXT STEPS

Build on the momentum. Seeking their first conference win, the Bengals play the rival Browns on Halloween night in Cleveland.

Tshiebwe, Timme top AP preseason All-America team

BY JOHN MARSHALL
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

Oscar Tschiebwe was the consensus men's college basketball player of the year last season, an accomplishment usually followed by a jump to the NBA.

Kentucky's big man decided to take a different route. He's coming back — and he may be even better this season.

"He's a better passer. He's a better dribbler. He has a better feel. He talks," Kentucky coach John Calipari said. "Offensively he knows the plays better. And he's authentic."

Tshiebwe was a unanimous selection along with Gonzaga big man Drew Timme in The Associated Press preseason All-America team released Monday. They were joined by North Carolina forward Armando Bacot, Houston guard Marcus Sasser and Indiana forward Trayce Jackson-Davis on the team selected by a 59-person media panel that votes on the weekly AP Top 25.

Tshiebwe is the ninth AP national player of the year — Bill Walton and Ralph Sampson did it twice — to return for another season, according to Sportradar, and the first since Tyler Hansbrough came back to lead North Carolina to a national title in 2009.

The fourth-ranked Wildcats are hoping Tshiebwe can do the same for them.

The 6-foot-9, 260-pound forward from the Congo led the nation in rebounding at 15.1 per game while averaging 17.4 points. He shot 60% from the field, had 60 steals and 55 blocks, and finished the season with 16 consecutive double-doubles on the way to a school-record 28.

Instead of taking his game to the NBA, Tshiebwe opted to return when projections had him going in the second round of the 2022 draft.

"They (NBA scouts) want my game to expand a little bit," said Tshiebwe, who started his career at West Virginia. "They want me to be able to make one or two 3-pointers, They want me to catch the ball, drive and finish, and get better in dribbling."

Timme made a similar decision — two years in a row. The 6-foot-10 senior was one of the nation's best big men each of the past two seasons, leading the Zags on deep NCAA runs, including a trip to the national title game in 2021. He was a second-team All-American for the second straight season a year ago after averaging 18.4 points and 6.8 rebounds.

Timme still had areas of his game he wanted to work on before heading to the NBA and hoped for one more shot at winning a national title with the second-ranked Zags. The NCAA's name, image and likeness deals made it an easier decision and, besides, college life is a lot of fun.

"We have a chance to do something special, I wanted to get my degree, there's things I want to work on, I want to build on," Timme said. "It was a culmination of a lot of things, but I really enjoy being a college kid."

Bacot also has a chance to do something special with the Tar Heels.

UK's Tshiebwe anticipates returning for season opener

BY GARY B. GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON — Kentucky forward and consensus national player of the year Oscar Tshiebwe said Tuesday he "absolutely" anticipates being ready for the No. 4 Wildcats' season opener after having a procedure on his right knee earlier this month.

The 6-foot-9 senior spoke publicly for the first time since Wildcats coach John Calipari announced on social media that the player would have a "minor" procedure on the knee to "clean some things up." Tshiebwe entered the practice court for media day without crutches but wore a flexible brace on the knee over colorful compression tights.

As usual, Tshiebwe was upbeat and optimistic.

"To be honest, I don't think I will miss games other than exhibition games because it's not really necessary that I get this done," he said.

The Associated Press preseason All-America selection averaged 17.4 points and a nation-leading 15.1 rebounds per game last season on the way to being named the AP's Player of the Year and sweeping the other five national awards as college basketball's best player. The native of the Democratic Republic of the Congo said he returned for another season to help Kentucky win the national championship and broaden his game toward boosting his stock for next year's NBA draft.

He looked dominant during a team workout before NBA scouts on Oct. 9 but was held out of the preceding and following practices before being examined. Tshiebwe underwent surgery that week and missed Kentucky's Big Blue Madness public practice along with last Saturday's intrasquad scrimmage in Pikeville, Kentucky, to benefit flood victims.

Calipari had no timetable for Tshiebwe's return but said he's moving around and just has to stay off his feet. Kentucky hosts Howard on Nov. 7.

"When he trains it may swell, but it goes away and for the time being that's what it is," the Hall of Fame coach added. "But he's telling me, 'I'm feeling good, my leg feels good, I don't have the same pain that was there.'

"We're not going to hold him back, but we're not going to push him forward, either."

Colts hoping QB change could help right unbalanced offense

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Indianapolis Colts coach Frank Reich makes his preference for a run-heavy offense perfectly clear.

He wants the kind of attack that helped Jonathan Taylor win last season's NFL rushing title, the kind that put the Colts in playoff position and the kind that never really materialized for Matt Ryan.

Over the last two games, Ryan threw 102 passes while a nicked-up backfield logged 33 total carries, a problematic imbalance that may have led to Monday's announcement that Sam Ehlinger will replace the injured Ryan as Indy's starting quarterback.

"Is he (Ehlinger) going to have some growing pains? Of course. Is he going to make mistakes? Of course, he's going to make mistakes," Reich said. "But I think Sam will make plays, Sam is going to make plays. He's proven that everywhere he's been, and we believe that's what he's going to do."

Although Ryan suffered a separated throwing shoulder during Sunday's 19-10 loss at Tennessee, Reich said the injury is not what prompted the change and that his plan is for Ehlinger to start the rest of the season.

The Colts (3-3-1) didn't arrive here by choice.

They believed pairing Ryan with Taylor, receiver Michael Pittman Jr. and what was expected to be a strong offensive line would provide the missing pieces for a deep postseason run.

Nothing went as expected, though.

Taylor missed two games with an injured ankle and his backup, Nyheim Hines, missed all but three plays of the same two games after entering the concussion protocol. Somehow, third-stringer Deon Jackson helped the Colts win both before leaving against Jacksonville with a quad injury.

Poor pass protection prompted Reich to make changes along the line, speed up the pace with the no-huddle offense and rely on shorter, quicker throws to keep Ryan upright.

The Colts got mixed results. They produced a season-high 34 points against the Jaguars before their dud against the Titans.

The result: Ryan's out, Ehlinger's in and everyone's hoping the former Texas star's mobility will help Indy run a more balanced attack and reverse some of the problems plaguing the Colts' offense.

Ryan was hit 59 times and sacked 24, tied with Cincinnati's Joe Burrow for an NFL high.

He threw nine interceptions and fumbled 11 times — both league highs — and only the Chargers' Justin Herbert (308) threw more passes than Ryan's 297.

Taylor remained effective at Tennessee, with 58 yards on 10 carries and seven receptions for 27 yards, but the Colts need to avoid being one-dimensional and playing catch-up.

7 desperate drivers have NASCAR season on the line

Joey Logano has little stress headed into Martinsville Speedway, where his results won't make a difference in his march toward the NASCAR championship.

JENNA FRYER

The rest of the field?

Well, expect chaos.

There are still three spots open in the title-deciding finale and seven drivers head into Sunday's race at NASCAR's smallest and oldest track with a chance. Only 58 points separate Ross Chastain in second from Chase Briscoe in eighth, and a victory can earn a driver an automatic berth into the winner-take-all finale at Phoenix Raceway.

Logano is already locked into the championship race via his victory at Las Vegas two weeks ago. The remaining seven playoff drivers will be fighting for every point possible on a 0.526-mile track that proved in April to be impossible to pass on.

"Nobody's passing anybody at Martinsville, so better bring it," said 2020 NASCAR champion Chase Elliott. "It's gonna be tough."

Elliott knows firsthand. He started from the pole at Martinsville in the spring and led 185 laps. But he lost the lead to Hendrick Motorsports teammate William Byron and that was it for Elliott, who finished a perplexing ninth as he stalled out in traffic the rest of the race.

In fact, only four total drivers led laps in the Next Gen car's debut at Martinsville, and Ryan Blaney and Austin Dillon combined to lead a whopping six of the 403 laps. The show belonged to Byron and Elliott, who combined to lead the remaining 397 laps (98.5%). That pushed Hendrick Motorsports to 10,000 laps led at the track in Rick Hendrick's home state of Virginia.

So what does it mean?

Track position is crucial and the Next Gen car, created in part to level the playing field, has left little separation from the front to the back of the grid. The new 18-inch Goodyear tire on the cars has created even more grip, which has alleviated the potential for driver mistakes.

With the chance to race for the Cup championship on the line, drivers are going to have no choice but to be very, very aggressive.

But NASCAR has made it clear over the last three weeks that it is watching closely and won't tolerate any sort of race manipulation or retaliation. Bubba Wallace was suspended for Sunday's race at Homestead-Miami Speedway for deliberately crashing Kyle Larson a week before, and Cole Custer and Stewart-Haas Racing have a Thursday appeal scheduled of their $200,000 fines for allegedly assisting Briscoe's advance into the third round of the playoffs.

Denny Hamlin, co-owner of Wallace's car, wrecked Elliott once at Martinsville to trigger a heated post-race exchange. After the message sent by NASCAR the last several weeks, drivers will have to carefully consider what's acceptable this Sunday.

"They drew a very good line," Hamlin said of NASCAR. "They did the right thing. Now it's about can we be more consistent with that for the future? What is the determining factor of crossing that line?"

Blaney, who led five laps at Martinsville in the spring but still thought he had a car capable of winning, sits sixth behind Hamlin below the cutline along with Christopher Bell and Briscoe. Bell and Briscoe both believe they are in must-win situations to advance to the Phoenix finale, but Blaney believes he can qualify on points.

He also knows now he must do it within NASCAR's boundaries.

"I personally think it is good that NASCAR is putting the law down, the hammer down on things that they think are wrong and that they want to act," Blaney said. "That is the only way you can kind of police it. You have to do those things. At the end of the day, it is their call.

"If they see something that they don't like, I expect them to act on it, and they have the last couple of weeks. It doesn't change the approach of the way I do anything. In my mind, you never think about, 'If I do something malicious with intent, or something like that, that you can get away with it.' "

Martinsville in 2015 was the site of one of the more recent egregious acts of retaliation. Matt Kenseth, feuding for weeks with Logano, returned his wrecked car to the track to intentionally retaliate against Logano — a move that cost Logano a spot in the championship race and earned Kenseth a two-race suspension. Kenseth was the last driver suspended for on-track action before Wallace last week.

With the season on the line for seven drivers come Sunday, it might make for desperate measures in the waning laps.

"Sports tests your morals and tests your character a lot of times," Logano said. "Sometimes it is tough to balance all that in the heat of the moment. You sometimes make decisions that you're not proud of later on, but you learn lessons every time. I've made mistakes and made dumb decisions inside race cars that I regret. But I've learned from every one of them, and I feel like I know where my line is now."

HARPER

"All the things we thought he was, have turned out to be true," Middleton said. "There's been no disappointments. Sometimes when you go through that process you think you understand somebody and what you really get is a little bit different. There is nothing different with Bryce. He is just committed to winning. He'll do whatever it takes. I think if I told him he had to play third base, he'd play third base."

The right fielder who bowed to Phillies fans each time he ran out to start the game was forced into a DH role in April because of a small tear in the ulnar collateral ligament of his throwing elbow. Because Harper could not throw with the injury, had the National League not adopted the DH rule this season, he might have missed a considerable chunk of time, if not the season. Remember, too: When Harper's thumb was broken by a pitch from San Diego's Blake Snell in late June, there were concerns he might not be back until next year.

The 2021 NL MVP slumped a bit late in the season as the Phillies made a run a the NL wild card. But in the playoffs against St. Louis, Atlanta and the Padres, Harper's numbers soared higher than his jersey sales. Unlike Padres slugger Manny Machado, Harper did not ask for an out in his contract, though his postseason play would have provided ample negotiation fuel.

Among his October achievements:

• Harper is hitting .419 with six doubles, five homers, 11 RBIs, 10 runs scored and a 1.351 OPS in the postseason.

• His 11 extra-base hits are most for a Phillies player in a postseason and his 10-game hitting streak matches Lenny Dykstra (1993) for the team's longest in the playoffs.

• Harper's go-ahead home run was the sixth in MLB postseason history in the eighth inning or later that gave his team the lead when trailing in a potential series-clinching game.

"As good as it gets," Phillies manger Rob Thomson said. "I mean, he's proved to me over and over and over again that there's no moment that's too big for him, and he's come through so many times. You just kind of expect it when he goes to the plate."

Harper almost does, too. With the Phillies down 3-2 and reliever Robert Suarez on the mound, Harper had a message in the dugout.

"Let's give them something to remember," Harper said.

He got the help he needed once J.T. Realmuto led off the inning with a single. Padres manager Bob Melvin elected to stay with the right-handed Suarez against the lefty Harper rather than bring in Josh Hader, the hard-throwing lefty closer.

Harper started 1-1, then fouled off three straight pitches in the rain as a sellout crowd of 45,485 grew louder. He took ball two. Then, boom. Harper hammered a 98.9 mph sinker to left-center, and minutes later, the Phillies had won the game and the pennant. He had long ago won over Philly.

"I just looked at my dugout and kind of it's for all of them," Harper said. "It's for this whole team. It's for this whole organization. We haven't been here for a long time. It's for every single fan that's here now and that isn't here. It's for all of them no matter where you came from, who you are, you've got Phils on your chest, you're family. I really believe that. That's from right here."

Today's Puzzle Solved

Couple should separate during separation

Dear Amy: For the past year, I have been dating a man who is separated from his wife. They separated shortly before we started dating, and both want a divorce. He loves his two children very much, but does (fairly openly) regret having children with her.

He and I currently live together — I know we rushed this, but there were various factors (he is still paying the mortgage on his house, and all expenses. His wife doesn't work).

His friends know about me, but his wife is barely aware of my existence/importance to him, and doesn't know that we live together.

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

He is dreading starting divorce proceedings due to the nastiness that could ensue around the money/potentially selling their house.

He is not moving forward, and is very upset when I bring it up.

I am 31, and very much want to have a family (especially with him). He also echoes this and says he wants the same thing.

My concern is that the divorce will take a long time due to his fears/inaction, and thus the integration of me into his life (i.e. meeting his children) will take more time, and I'll be too old to have a child.

I do not want to be with a married/separated man for the rest of my life.

How can I stay supportive but also stick up for myself (without nagging)?

— Patiently Waiting

Dear Waiting: I wonder where his wife and children think he lives?

I understand your stance that you'd just as soon reside in the shadows and avoid this drama, but you should also understand that your guy is telling a series of lies in order to avoid dealing with this. He is pathologically passive, paralyzed, or both.

Yes — his choice to cohabit with you could ultimately make a divorce tougher for him. Quite simply, he should not be doing it.

He should seek the advice of an attorney immediately, and he should follow the attorney's advice. And you should ask him to stay with a friend or family member until he can get things sorted out.

Unmannered child should be put to work

Dear Amy: I am facing a dilemma: My 9-year-old grandson needs to be taught some table manners!

He doesn't use the napkin given to him, doesn't know the correct way to use utensils, he licks his fingers, and if he likes a particular food, he cleans out the bowl.

I have never given my son and his wife advice on child-raising. I don't think it is my place. I do think my son is a loving and dedicated father, who is touching most bases. But on this issue, Dad isn't doing a very good job.

I know you've written in the past that grandparents should not intervene unless it is an issue of safety, but I think this child's poor table manners will haunt him in adulthood.

Otherwise, he is a smart, kind, wonderful and curious boy.

— Concerned Grandmother

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Concerned: There is a big difference between intervention and influence.

Grandparents have countless opportunities to be positive influences on their grandchildren, in part because of the quality of time and attention that grandparents devote to their grands.

Nine-year-old children are at an ideal age to learn new skills, and most children this age LOVE to learn to cook. The next time your grandson is with you (alone, not with his folks), introduce him to the kitchen. Make tortillas together and have a taco meal, or put together personal pizzas. Let him peel and slice a cucumber for the salad.

While your meal is on the stove, show him how to set the table — show him which utensils go where. Can he guess where the water glass goes? Why does he think it goes in that spot? (So he can reach it with his right hand.)

My overall point is that your grandson will see that he has a stake in the meal, and in how it is eaten. While he is eating, you can praise his efforts and give him some more tips and occasional reminders. When his competence improves, notice and praise him.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr. 19) — Keep your skepticism in check. Someone's praise may seem exaggerated, or an offer may seem too good to be true, but if you do some homework, you may be pleasantly surprised. It shouldn't hurt just to listen.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20) — Don't overdo it. A simple thank you is perfect. If you gush with too much appreciation over someone's kind act, they may actually start to doubt you. Appreciate favors from others but don't feel entitled.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Use your sixth sense. Follow a loved one's body language and you can accurately gauge whether they have a problem. It may be helpful to invite someone to add their own touch to your creative idea.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Sometimes the truth hurts. It would be wiser to spare someone's feelings than to be brutally honest with them. Use diplomacy and tactful course corrections to foster teamwork and ask for forgiveness when needed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Believe it when you see it. Even if someone made you a promise of their own volition, don't accept it as fact until they prove they intend to follow through. Your goals may be at odds with what a loved one wants.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Stand your ground. Be observant when facing negotiations as a shrewd opponent may try to get more of an advantage than would be equitable. Make sure that everyone gets their fair share of the goodies.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22.) — Make your intentions perfectly clear. A poor choice of words could be all it takes to create a ridiculous misunderstanding so be completely forthright when explaining plans. A little humor can break the ice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Don't be guilty by association. Steer clear of a co-worker who can be the monarch of bad ideas or who displays poor habits, as you may inadvertently get lumped together with them. You'll fare better on your own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You shouldn't expect generosity. Someone may indeed come to your aid in a pinch, but you can't rely on that to happen so have a backup plan. You can gain more respect if you stand on your own feet.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Go along to get along. Respect the consensus opinion, even if you don't agree with it as progress will likely stall otherwise. Take a few days to mull over extravagant purchases before you decide to buy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — There are no boundaries to your imagination. Creative thinking outside the box may be just what it takes to solve a difficult problem. Conventional wisdom may not be the solution to overcoming obstacles now.

PISCES (Feb. 19- Mar. 20) — You can go your own way. You might do much better in a quiet, calm environment rather than trying to work amid chaotic surroundings. Close friends and family may help set your mind at ease tonight.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr. 19) — Have a backup plan. Today's itinerary may change quickly due to unforeseen circumstances or someone changing their mind. Focus on activities where you only need to rely on yourself today.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20) — Show your loyalty. Display your true caring towards a friend or loved one by giving all the support you can during a difficult time. Make certain that you're being realistic about romantic dreams and aspirations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Dare to be different. Breaking up boring routines by trying something new and exciting may be just what you need to improve your mood. A new friend's views and insights could really open your eyes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Put your blinders on. Insulate yourself off from distractions while working or you could end up solving someone else's assignments instead of your own. A valuable lesson can always be learned from any mistake.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Throw caution to the wind. Embrace your adventurous side by accepting an invitation or exploring something new with a romantic partner. There's not much to be gained by sitting home and binging TV.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — We see what we want to see. Don't allow your heart to supersede your mind in romantic matters or you could end up in the wrong situation. Avoid mistaking casual flirtation for an indication of love.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22.) — Don't put all your eggs in one basket. You should avoid making too much of a commitment to any one plan because what works today may not work tomorrow. Your charm and charisma can be a big hit tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Make the world take a step back. Romantic goals may get set aside if you get caught up in entertaining your tribe. You'll find it far easier to truly express yourself if you focus on romantic pleasures tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You may push too hard. Coming on too strong could scare a potential romantic partner away so work on being a friend first before advancing to the next level. Carefully navigate someone's personal space.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Be the strong one. Provide support to your romantic relationships by setting your partner at ease and providing a shoulder to lean on. Exploring new ideas and exotic places makes the evening memorable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Don't stray too far from home. Enjoy the start of the weekend with friends but stick to places that you are already familiar with and know you like. Relax and roll with it if or when someone changes their mind.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) — Be subtle. Putting on an overly dramatic persona and becoming the center of attention tonight could scare off potential romantic partners so try to fly under the radar. It's not a good time to stand out from the crowd.

Nantz to call last Final Four in '23

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — Jim Nantz will step away from calling the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament after next year and will be succeeded by Ian Eagle.

CBS Sports confirmed the move on Monday night. It was first reported by the New York Post.

Nantz has been a part of the CBS coverage of the tournament since 1986. He was the studio host for five years before calling his first Final Four in 1991.

Next year's Final Four will take place in Houston, 40 years after the University of Houston's run to the national championship game before it was upset by North Carolina State.

Nantz attended the University of Houston and hosted coach Guy Lewis' television show. The 63-year old Nantz will remain the lead voice of the network's NFL coverage, along with leading its golf team. CBS has The Masters and PGA Championship. Eagle has been with CBS since 1998. Besides calling the tournament, he is part of the network's No. 2 NFL team.

The 53-year-old Eagle is also part of Turner's NBA coverage and has called Brooklyn Nets games since 1995.

Any person interested in submitting a bid for the Bonds may furnish in writing to the School Corporation c/o Baker Tilly Municipal Advisors, LLC ("Baker Tilly"), 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 46240; (317) 651500 or by e-mail to bids@bakertilly.com, on or before 11:00 a.m. (Indianapolis Time) November 3, 2022, the person's name, address, and telephone number. Interested persons may also furnish an email address. The undersigned Secretary will notify (or cause to be notified) each person so registered of the date and time bids will be received not less than twentyfour (24) hours before the date and time of sale. The notification shall be made by telephone at the number furnished by such person and also by email, if an email address has been received.

Notice is hereby given that electronic proposals will be received via PARITY®, in the manner described below, until the time and date specified in the Notice provided at least 24 hours prior to the sale, which is expected to be 11:00 a.m. (Indianapolis Time), on November 8, 2022. Bids may be submitted electronically via PARITY® pursuant to this Notice until the time specified in this Notice, but no bid will be received after the time for receiving bids specified above. To the extent any instructions or directions set forth in PARITY® conflict with this Notice, the terms of this Notice shall control. For further information about PARITY®, potential bidders may contact the School Corporation's municipal advisor, Baker Tilly at (317) 4651500 or PARITY® at (212) 8495021.

At the time designated for the sale, the School Corporation will receive at the offices of Baker Tilly, 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 46240, and consider bids for the purchase of the following described Bonds:

Madison Consolidated Schools General Obligation Bonds of 2022 (the "Bonds"), an Indiana political subdivision, in the principal amount of $3,365,000; Fully registered form; Denomination $5,000 and integral multiples thereof (or in such other denomination as requested by the winning bidder); Originally dated the date of delivery of the Bonds; Bearing interest at a rate or rates to be determined by bidding, payable on July 15, 2023, and semiannually thereafter; These Bonds will be initially issued in a Book Entry System (as defined in the Bond Resolution (as hereinafter defined)) unless otherwise requested by the winning bidder. Interest payable by check mailed one business day prior to the interest payment date or by wire transfer to depositories on the interest payment date to the person or depository in whose name each Bond is registered with U.S. Bank Trust Company, National Association on the fifteenth day immediately preceding such interest payment date; Maturing or subject to mandatory redemption on January 15 and July 15 beginning no earlier than July 15, 2023 through no later than January 15, 2031 on the dates and amounts as provided by the School Corporation prior to the sale.

As an alternative to PARITY®, bidders may submit a sealed bid or e-mail the bid electronically to the School Corporation's municipal advisor at the address described above until the time and on the date identified in the notice given by, or on behalf of the School Corporation, twentyfour hours prior to the sale of the Bonds. Upon completion of the bidding procedures described herein, the results of the sealed, nonelectronic bids received shall be compared to the electronic bids received by the School Corporation.

If a potential bidder has questions related to the School Corporation, the financing or submission of bids, questions should be submitted by email to the addresses above no later than 11:00 a.m. (Indianapolis Time) on November 4, 2022. To the best of the School Corporation's ability, all questions will be addressed by or on behalf of the School Corporation and sent to potential bidders, including any bidders requesting 24 hours' notice of sale, no later than 5:00 p.m. (Indianapolis Time) on November 4, 2022. Additionally, upon request, the written responses will be emailed to any other interested bidder. Bidders should review this notice as well as the Preliminary Official Statement and submit any questions in advance of this deadline to submit questions.

The School Corporation reserves the right to adjust the maturity schedule following the sale in order to accomplish the School Corporation's financial objectives by reallocating debt service based upon the rates bid by the successful bidder (the "Purchaser").

The Bonds are not subject to optional redemption prior to maturity.

A bid may designate that a given maturity or maturities shall constitute a term bond, and the semiannual amounts set forth in the schedule provided prior to the sale shall constitute the mandatory sinking fund redemption requirements for such term bond or bonds. For purposes of computing net interest cost, the mandatory redemption amounts shall be treated as maturing on the dates set forth in the schedule provided prior to the sale.

In the case of any redemption, 30 days' notice will be given by mail to the registered owners of the Bonds to be redeemed, and accrued interest will be paid to the date fixed for redemption. Interest on the Bonds so called for redemption will cease on the redemption date fixed in said notice if funds are available at the place of redemption to redeem the Bonds so called on the date fixed in said notice, or thereafter when presented for payment.

The Bonds have been designated as qualified taxexempt obligations for purposes of Section 265(b)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code").

Each bid must be for all of the Bonds and must state the rate of interest which each maturity of the Bonds is to bear, stated in multiples of 1/8th or 1/100th of 1%. The maximum interest rate of the Bonds shall not exceed 5.00% per annum. All Bonds maturing on the same date shall bear the same rate. No bid for less than 99% of the face value of the Bonds will be considered. The Bonds will be awarded to the lowest responsible and responsive bidder who has submitted a bid in accordance herewith. The Purchaser will be the one who offers the lowest net interest cost to the School Corporation, to be determined by computing the total interest on all of the Bonds to their maturities based upon the schedule provided by the School Corporation prior to the sale and deducting therefrom the premium bid, if any, and adding thereto the discount bid, if any. No conditional bids will be considered. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. If an acceptable bid is not received for the Bonds on the date of sale hereinbefore fixed, the sale may be continued from day to day thereafter without further advertisement, during which time no bid which provides a higher net interest cost to the School Corporation than the best bid received at the time of the advertised sale will be considered.

A good faith deposit ("Deposit") in the form of cash, wire transfer or certified or cashier's check in the amount of 1% of the par amount of the Bonds, payable to the order of the School Corporation, is required to be submitted by the Purchaser not later than 3:30 p.m. (Indianapolis Time) on the next business day following the award. If such Deposit is not received by that time, the School Corporation may reject the bid. No interest on the Deposit will accrue to the Purchaser. The Deposit will be applied to the purchase price of the Bonds. In the event the Purchaser fails to honor its accepted bid, the Deposit will be retained by the School Corporation as liquidated damages.

The Purchaser shall make payment for such Bonds and accept delivery thereof within five days after being notified that the Bonds are ready for delivery, at such place in the City of Indianapolis, Indiana, as the Purchaser may designate, or at such other location mutually agreed to by the School Corporation and the Purchaser. The Bonds will be ready for delivery within 45 days after the date of sale. If the School Corporation fails to have the Bonds ready for delivery prior to the close of banking hours on the fortyfifth day after the date of sale, the Purchaser may secure the release of the bid upon request in writing, filed with the School Corporation. Unless otherwise requested by the winning bidder, the Purchaser is expected to apply to a securities depository registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") to make such Bonds depositoryeligible. If the Bonds are reoffered, at the time of delivery of the Bonds to the Purchaser, the Purchaser will be required to certify to the School Corporation the initial reoffering price to the public of a substantial amount of each maturity of the Bonds.

All provisions of the bid form and Preliminary Official Statement (as hereinafter defined) are incorporated herein. As set forth in the Preliminary Official Statement, the Purchaser agrees by submission of their bid to assist the School Corporation in establishing the issue price of the Bonds under the terms outlined therein and shall execute and deliver to the School Corporation at closing an "issue price" certificate, together with the supporting pricing wires or equivalent communications, with such modifications as may be appropriate or necessary, in the reasonable judgment of the Purchaser, the School Corporation and Ice Miller LLP ("Bond Counsel").

Bidders must comply with the rules of PARITY® (the "Rules") in addition to requirements of this Notice. To the extent there is a conflict between the Rules and this Notice, this Notice shall control. Bidders may change and submit bids as many times as they wish during the sale, but they may not withdraw a submitted bid. The last bid submitted by a bidder prior to the deadline for the receipt of bids will be compared to all other final bids to determine the winning bid. During the sale, no bidder will see any other bidder's bid, nor will they see the status of their bid relative to other bids (e.g., whether their bid is a leading bid).

It is anticipated that CUSIP identification numbers will be printed on the Bonds, but neither the failure to print such numbers on any Bond nor any error with respect thereto shall constitute cause for failure or refusal by the successful bidder therefor to accept delivery of and pay for the Bonds in accordance with the terms of its proposal. No CUSIP identification number shall be deemed to be a part of any Bond or a part of the contract evidenced thereby and no liability shall hereafter attach to the School Corporation or any of its officers or agents because of or on account of such numbers. All expenses in relation to the printing of CUSIP identification numbers on the Bonds shall be paid for by the School Corporation; provided, however, that the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of said numbers shall be the responsibility of and shall be paid for by the Purchaser. The Purchaser will also be responsible for any other fees or expenses it incurs in connection with the resale of the Bonds.

The approving opinion of Bond Counsel, together with a transcript of the proceedings relating to the issuance of the Bonds and closing papers in the usual form showing no litigation questioning the validity of the Bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder at the expense of the School Corporation.

The Bonds are being issued for the purpose of the renovation of and improvements to facilities throughout the School Corporation, including site improvements and the purchase of equipment and technology, and will be direct obligations of the School Corporation payable out of ad valorem taxes to be collected on the taxable property within the School Corporation; however, the School Corporation's collection of the levy may be limited by operation of I.C. 61.120.6, which provides taxpayers with tax credits for property taxes attributable to different classes of property in an amount that exceeds certain percentages of the gross assessed value of that property. The School Corporation is required by law to fully fund the payment of debt service on the Bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the debt service, regardless of any reduction in property tax collections due to the application of such tax credits. The School Corporation may not be able to levy or collect additional property taxes to make up this shortfall. The School Corporation is a school corporation organized pursuant to the provisions of I.C. 2023; the Bonds will not be "private activity bonds" as defined in Section 141 of the Code.

The School Corporation is conducting this sale pursuant to Indiana Code § 5-1-11-1(2) and is using a competitive process outlined in this notice for the purpose of selecting the Purchaser to whom it will sell its Bonds pursuant to the terms in this notice.

The Bonds constitute an indebtedness only of the School Corporation. In the opinion of Bond Counsel, under the existing federal statutes, decisions, regulations and rulings, the interest on the Bonds is exempt from all income taxation in Indiana. In the opinion of Bond Counsel, under the existing federal statutes, decisions, regulations and rulings, the interest on the Bonds is excludable from gross income for purposes of federal income taxation.

The School Corporation has prepared a Preliminary Official Statement (the "Preliminary Official Statement") relating to the Bonds which it has deemed nearly final. A copy of the Preliminary Official Statement may be obtained from the School Corporation's municipal advisor, Baker Tilly, 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 462402687. Within seven (7) business days of the sale, the School Corporation will provide the successful bidder with sufficient copies of the Final Official Statement (the "Final Official Statement") at the School Corporation's expense in order for such bidder to comply with Section (b)(4) of the SEC Rule 15c2-12 and the rules of the Municipal Securities Rulemaking Board. Additional copies, at the Purchaser's expense, must be requested within five (5) business days of the sale. Inquiries concerning matters contained in the Preliminary Official Statement must be made and pricing and other information necessary to complete the Final Official Statement must be submitted by the Purchaser within two (2) business days following the sale to be included in the Final Official Statement.

If the Bonds are reoffered by an underwriter, the School Corporation agrees to enter into a fifth supplement to continuing disclosure undertaking (the "Master Agreement") in order to permit the Purchaser to comply with the SEC Rule 15c212, as amended to the date hereof (the "SEC Rule"). A copy of the Master Agreement is available from the School Corporation or municipal advisor at the addresses below.

The School Corporation has further agreed to comply with the Purchaser's reasonable requests to provide or disclose information and make appropriate filings which may be required in order for such purchaser to comply with the SEC Rule.

Further information relative to said issue and a copy of the Preliminary Official Statement may be obtained upon application to Baker Tilly, 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 46240, municipal advisor to the School Corporation; or Dr. Teresa Brown, Superintendent of the School Corporation, 2421 Wilson Avenue, Madison, Indiana 47250. If bids are submitted by mail, they should be addressed to the School Corporation, attention of 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 462402687.

Harden, Embiid lead 76ers past Pacers for 1st win

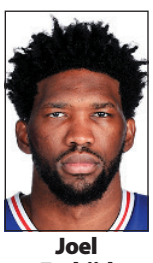
BY DAN GELSTON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

PHILADELPHIA — James Harden and the 76ers watched plenty of their bad plays on film during recent practices. The clips magnified the results on the court.

"I felt like we were 0-82," Harden said.

They don't have to worry about that now. Harden had 29 points and 11 assists, and Joel Embiid scored 26 points to lead the Philadelphia 76ers to their first win of the season, 120-106 over the Indiana Pacers on Monday night.

James Harden



Joel Embiid

The Sixers started 0-3, dropping the first two games to Eastern Conference contenders Boston and Milwaukee. Embiid dropped 40 points in a loss to San Antonio as the Sixers still joined Orlando as the only East teams at 0-3.

"We've got to continue to work, continue to build really good habits and live with the results," Harden said.

Harden made 10 of 18 shots from the floor and hit two straight 3s in the fourth that pushed the lead to 109-95.

"I'm trying to create the best shot available," Harden said.

The Sixers put the smack down on the Pacers from the jump and a little bit of something from everyone to cruise into the win column.

The Sixers had six players each hit one 3-pointer in the first quarter. They made 12 of 22 shots in the second and raced to a 19-point lead. Harden and Tobias Harris combined for nine of Philadelphia's 19 3-pointers.

"We have a team that can shoot 3s, right? if you're open, shoot them," Rivers said.

Harris hit four 3s and scored 18 points.

"People don't talk about Tobias Harris enough," Pacers coach Rick Carlisle said. "He's a tremendous player."

Tyrese Haliburton led the Pacers with 19 points and 10 assists. Buddy Hield had 18 points. The good news for Philly, the Sixers didn't need much out of Embiid.

The reigning NBA scoring champion, Embiid said over the weekend his offseason were slowed by a battle of plantar fasciitis (pain under the heel and foot).

Embiid said he essentially shut down all physical activity for two months headed into training camp and said he was still "trying to work my way back."

He threw down a thunderous right-handed baseline dunk late in the third that woke up a quiet crowd.

"I liked his patience," Rivers said. "This is one of those games, you haven't won a game, they were trapping him every time. He just kept moving it. There was no rush. I just liked how he approached the game."

The good news for the Sixers, their slow start was lost in the Philly sports shuffle among the Phillies trip to the World Series, the Eagles' 6-0 start and the Union's run to the Eastern Conference final. Plus, it's early and Rivers believed the Sixers can straighten out and contend rather than fall into a long losing streak.

"I've seen talent," Rivers said. "It just has to match and work. I just like our guys in the locker room. There's no reason to believe the other way, personally."

Rivers, in his third season as Philadelphia's coach, added the Sixers still have to shore up some weaknesses to become the kind of team that can make a run in the East.

"We may go on a run. Even if we do, we're not ready yet to be that team," he said. "It's just going to take time."

TIP-INS

Pacers: Made only 12 of 44 3-point attempts. ... The Pacers did have a 30-30 fourth against the 76ers but they could not stop Harden.

"I think everyone that plays Philadelphia has got to figure out what they're willing to live with," Carlisle said.

76ers: G Shake Milton made his season debut in the second quarter. Milton, once seen as a second-unit spark, is in his fifth season with the Sixers. He did not score in 6 minutes. ... G De'Anthony Melton scored all of his season-high 11 points in the first half.

UP NEXT

Pacers: Continued their road trip at Chicago (Wednesday) before visiting Washington (Friday), and consecutive games in Brooklyn on Saturday and Monday.
